PUBLIC THE BLOOD, - If the blood be pure, the body, which is formed from and by the blood, cannot be diseased. But if there be in any part of the body any affection, such as a boil or ulper, even a bruise, the blood circulating through that part takes up impure matters from the local af-fection and carries fi into the general system. This is the cause often of sudden death to persons of full habit afflicted with boils and ulcers, and who use no medicine; the matter gets into the circulating system and chokes up the fine blood vessels which sup-

Gen. Dix Indignant-An Agreement Between England and the

Emited States. New York, July 27.-Morning papers ontain the following specials from Wash-Ington:

Gen. Dix is reported here to be exceedingly indignant at his nomination to the Hague, which he avers was without his knowledge or consent, and one that, in view of his past and present prominence and public services, he cannot accept in self-respect.

The British Government has proposed to the United States, through the Department of State, a record of agreement between the two countries, in substance as follows: That England agrees to send home to the United States all distressed American sea-men in British waters, the United States to follow suit. In order to effect this consummation it will be necessary for Congress ional action.

Pay of Officers-Decision by the Paymaster General. An official letter from the Paymaster General to an army officer mustered out at the close of the war, says that the amount due a First Lieutenant under the original act of Congress granting three month's extra pay proper is $150. The commutation and allowances are not included in the payment. The amount due other officers is in the same proportion to their rank. The Commissioners report that they have met with entire success in securing have met with entire success in securing the assent of Indians not represented last sail, to the treaties then made, both at Fort Sully and Fort Rice. Large numbers of the people of the tribes were present, and appeared to be fully satisfied with the action of their chiefs, and with the explanation given them for the delay in their promised payment. They now exhibit confidence, instead of distrusting the Commissioners, as they did last fall. Many of the lower Yanctons and Two Kettles Sioux are alanting at Crow Creek this year. The Commissioners give the Indians great credit for their absolute fulfillment of their promise to keep the peace last whiter amidst starvation and other sufferings, and recommend that a reserve of coin may be kept on hand hereafter at the upper agencies to meet emergencies. The Commis-sion was about to proceed to Fort Berthald to meet the Mondons, Arickareis and other tribes, who were assembling at that point. A delegation of about one hundred from the Sisseton and Walapeton bands, formery of Minnesota but latterly gathered about Fort Wadsworth, were present at Fort Rice, but the negotiations with them failed, owing to the fact that the majority of the In-dian delegation claimed rights to land and money which the Commissioners could not recognize, and the Indians returned to their people. A large number of the Sisseton and Sioux have been employed for a long time as scouts by the United States military officers in command in the northwest.

A board of officers has been appointed by the Commissioners of freedmen's affairs, for the purpose of revising the regulations for the government of the Bureau, to meet the requirements of the recent act of Congress extending the duration of the Bureau two years. tee on Jeff. Davis.

WASHINGTON. July 27 .- The committee on Judiciary have made a report, in which they-say it is notorious that Jefferson Da-vis was guilty of the crime of treason according to the Constitution and laws of the Inited States, and the committee are of the opinion that there are no obstacles to a speedy and impartial trial which cannot be removed by legislation. They say the evidence in possession of the committee connecting Jeff. Davis with the assassination of President Lincoln justifies them in saying that there is probable cause to believe that he was privy to the measures which led to the commis-sion of the deed; but the investigations which have been made by the War Department and by the committee have not resulted in placing the Government in posses-sion of all the facts in the case. It is probable, however, that the further prosecution of the investigation by the committee and by the officers of the Government will result finally in a full development of the whole transaction. Pending the onsideration of the Nebraska bill, Mr. PULAND, from the Judiciary committee, made a report on the case of Mr. Patterson, of Territories, accompanied by a resolution. The report states that at the outbreak of the war Mr. Patterson was judge of a circuit court in East Tennessee, to which he was re-elected during the war. He was indicated to become a caudidate for re-election by eptreaties of Union men, who desired his protection. He took an eath to support the Constitution of Tennessee and of the Confederate Government, but informed the officer who administered it that he had no respect for the latter part of it. Mr. Patterson had always been a Union man, and was accordance by all parties in Tennessee.

The resolution accompanying the report is as follows:

He had no doubt that Mr. Patterson was a Union man during the rebellion, but laws are general, and it semestimes bappens that in the operation of a law an individual case cannot be provided for. There is a law upon the statute book which requires every man, before taking his seat in this body, to swear that he never sought office or exercised the functions of an officer under a Government in hostlity to the United States. With this law upon the statute books, and the facts of Mr. Patterson's case before him Mr. Trumbuill, he could not vote that Mr. Patterson was duly qualified to take his seat. It would be a dangerous precedent to establish, and one that ought to

Mr. TRUMBULL said he was satisfied such was the case.

Mr. CLARK said he was satisfied that Mr. Patterson was a Union man, and such a Union man as would bring many in the Senata to shame. Mr. Patterson had been hunted from his home and persecuted in every way for his Union centiments. He was elected by Union man of Tennessee, and accepted the office for them.

Mr. HOWARD said the immediate question before the Senate was a resolution declaring Mr. Patterson duly qualified, which must depend, among other things, open whather he had ever sought, held, or attempted to space, the finestons of any flee under any government in host lity to the United Stares. Mr. Howard then proceeded to discuss the subject, arguing that the very fact of Mr. Patterson taking the coath to support the Confederate government disqualified him under the existing law from taking a seat in the Senate.

Mr. CLARK offered a substitute for the resolution of the Judiciary committee, as follows:

of the Judiciary committee, as follows:
That the Hon. David D. Pattercos, after taking the ath required by the Constitution and law, be

The above was agreed to as a substitute for the resolution reported by Mr. Poland.
By unanimous consent, the resolution of Mr. Poland was withdrawn and the following was offered by Mr. Trumbull as a joint resolution:

The affect of the level of the level of the river, and the danger from that system adopted by an alice between the substitution of the level of the river and the danger from that system was that a single man in a stugle hour of the night could open a level and felure the whole country. hill involved an expenditure of and would cost the State of New York $29,000,000 while his belief was that soldiers of that State would not receive, under that soldiers of that State would not reserve under the bill, half a milion; and why? Because in the State of New York, and in most of the New Eugland States, bounties had bren paid almost from the out-set of the rebelion. Having once paid those boun-ties, he asked whether these States should be com-pelled to submit to taxation to par hounties over again to the andiers of other States? Mr. SCHENCK replied to the argument of Mr. Conkling, and advocated the adoption of the bounty bill as reported, as being eminently just and exual-ized measure.

He had no doubt that Mr. Patterson was a loval man.

It had no doubt that Mr. Patterson was a Union man during the rebellion, but laws are general, and it sometimes happens that in the operation of a law an individual case cannot be provided for. There is a law upon the statute book which requires every mas, before taking his seat in this body, to swear that he never sought office or exercised the ferni ions of an officer under a Government in hostility to the United States. With this has upon the statute books, and the facts of Mr. Patterson's case before him (Mr. Trumbuil), he could not vote that Mr. Patterson was duly qualified to take his seat. It would be adamserous precedent to establish, and one that ought to be settled with great care. To receive Mr. Patterson, it accurately be not attained that Mr. Patterson is comed to the office for the benefit of Union men?

Mr. CLARK is aid he was satisfied that Mr. Patterson was a Union man, and such a Union man as the case.

Mr. CLARK said he was satisfied that Mr. Patterson was a Union man, and such a Union man as would bring many in the Senate to shame. From Canada. New York.
